In most cases, the letters accompanying the acceptance showed the great interest which is manifested by the prominent people, summer residents and especially the historical societies in the ceremonies of the occasion of marking Stage Fort Park with the magnificent bronze tablet which is to commemorate not only our earliest settlers but the men who founded The Massachusetts Bay Colony at that place in 1623. Moreover the leading magazines and art journals in this country are planning to reproduce the tablet which is justly regarded as a masterpiece of art.

HIGH LINE SEINER

Gasoliner Saladin Now Holds This Coveted Honor.

Has Gross Stock at Present of Almost $22,000.

The gasoline auxiliary sch. Saladin, Capt. McKown, is high line of the mackerel fleet at present, with a gross stock of $21,824.24.

When the craft came home from south, her men settled up on a stock of $10,327.37. Since that time she landed some fine trips at Newport and Boston, and when she came in last week another settlement was made, this time on a stock of $11,496.78, on which the share of $234.54 was made, the share on the previous settlement being $201.54.

There are several vessels now around the $20,000 mark and three of them over it, so the high line honor is liable to rest on several shoulders before the season is over, but at the present time sch. Saladin is high line.

Previous to this, the veteran Capt. Joseph Smith, in the sailing sch. Grayling, held the honor with a stock of $21,000, which even now is exceeded only by sch. Saladin.

Capt. McKown is a seining skipper of years of prominence, and belongs at Boothbay Harbor, Me., and sails for Cunningham & Thompson. He is always well up with the leaders and has the reputation of being one of the best in the business.

REPORTS FISH PLENTY.

Former Provincetown Craft Doing Well at Newfoundland.

The Newfoundland sch. Marshall L. Adams, formerly of Provincetown, Capt. Courage, arrived at Carbonear, N. F., recently from the Grand Banks with 700 qtls. of fish for less than two weeks' fishing. She secured a full caplin baiting and left for Flemish Cap in the afternoon, to complete her trip. Capt. Courage reports fish very plentiful on the grounds, and several of our local vessels as having done well. The American and French fleets have also secured good fares since caplin became procurable.

EIGHTEEN CRAFT TOOK FISH.

Good News from Fleet Near the Cultivator Shoal.

TWO TRIPS AT BOSTON TODAY.

Mackerel in Good Schools and Not Hard to Catch.

The most encouraging mackerel news for some time comes to hand this morning and the best of it is backed up by two good trips and definite report as to location and vessels there.

Quite a number of the fleet have struck fish on Georges near the Cultivator shoal and some good hauls have been made under adverse circumstances.

Sch. Thomas J. Carroll, Capt. Herbert Thompson, arrived at T wharf, Boston, last evening, with 13,000 large fresh mackerel and 23 barrels of salt mackerel. Some of the crew who reside in this city came home last night. They report getting their haul on Georges, 30 miles southeast of the Cultivator shoal. The fish were taken on Sunday in the face of a stiff northwest wind, it being all the crews could do to row around the schools.

There were 20 sail of seiners on the spot and 18 of them are known to have taken fish on Sunday. The fish were in good schools and except for hard rowing against the wind, did not appear to be hard to catch. The men say the schools appeared to have from 10,000 to 15,000 fish in them, and one vessel, the leeward one of the fleet, evidently got a big haul, for he let his jibs run and dropped his peak at 11 o'clock in the forenoon and had not hoisted them at dark.

There appeared to be a good body to the fish and the fact that only two of the fleet came to market, the rest salting, shows that the skippers there must think the outlook pretty good and did not like to leave the ground.

Sch. Natalie J. Nelson, Capt. Albert Larkin, arrived at Boston, this morning with a fine fare, having 14,000 large fresh mackerel and 130 barrels of salt mackerel. Like sch. Thomas J. Carroll, Capt. Larkin was in the Georges spurt Sunday and reports good prospects there.

Fresh mackerel are a fancy price at Boston today, bringing 23 cents apiece, the highest since early in the New York season.

The fare of salt mackerel of sch. Albert Geiger, 45 barrels, sold to the Gloucester Mackerel Co. for a lump sum, $700.

The fare of sch. Independence II. sold to the Gloucester Mackerel Co. at $16.12 1-2 per barrel, barrel for barrel.

Among the 20 sail of vessels in the Sunday spurt on Georges to the southeast of the Cultivator school were schs. Thomas J. Carroll, Natalie J. Nelson, Patrician, Speculator, Mooween, Ingomar, Frisilla Smith, Hattie L. Trask, Mary F. Curtis and Lucania.

Sch. Talisman, Capt. Nelson Fisher, arrived here yesterday afternoon from the Rips, with 120 barrels of salt mackerel, her fare going to the Gloucester Mackerel Co.

Sch. Margie Smith, Capt. Thomas Cordeau, arrived here this morning, from the southeast part of Georges, with 100 barrels of salt mackerel. This is Capt. Cordeau's first trip as skipper, who considering what he has had to contend with, has done extra well. Early on the trip the bostbay parted, and although a tackle was rigged, the spars were in danger of going by the board. To make matters worse, the seine was torn and after being repaired was again torn while around a big school which if saved would have loaded the vessel. This time the twine was torn so badly that it was necessary to come home to have it repaired.

The fare of sch. Margie Smith sold to the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Co.

Sch. Thomas J. Carroll, while on her way to market Sunday night, passed fully 50 schools of mackerel between where she got her haul and the Cultivator shoal, but it was too rough and blowy to attempt a set.

SQUID VERY PLENTY.Bankers Baiting at St. Pierre at 20 Cents per Hundred.*Cod Plenty on Grand Banks and Vessels There Doing Well.

A telegram to the Gorton Pew Fisheries Co. last night from Capt. Leroy Spinney of the salt bank fleet, gives some mighty good news. Capt. Spinney reports baiting at St. Pierre, Miquelon, on Tuesday, taking 60,000 fresh squid at the small price of 20 cents per hundred, which of itself shows how plenty they are there.

The telegram says that squid are very plenty at St. Pierre, and Capt. Spinney adds that cod are plenty on Grand Bank and that all the French fleet, which is doing well, reports the same thing.

Capt. Lewis Devine of sch. Mildred Robinson, here today from Roseway Bank reports lots of squid in the hake they took there.

Capt. Albert Larkin of sch. Natalie J. Nelson reports squid schooling freely in South Channel.

READY FOR BUSINESS.Congressman Gardner Awaiting Washington Call on Fisheries.

Congressman Gardner has written to Assistant Secretary of State Bacon asking to be informed as to the present status of the fisheries dispute with Newfoundland, and offering to go to Washington at any time to confer with the department in regard to the matter. Congressman Gardner was obliged to drop the matter at the time of his recent illness, but now is ready to resume his work in this connection.

It is understood that the congressman will go to Washington next week.

Mackerel Notes.

Sch. Natalie J. Nelson came to this port from Boston last night with her salt mackerel. Capt. Larkin was fortunate in striking the highest price of the season for his fresh mackerel, getting almost $3500 at T wharf.

Speaking of the fishing on Georges Sunday, Capt. Larkin said the fleet were about southeast by south from the Cultivator, or by the log 145 miles southeast half east from Highland light.

The few days before had been quite rough, the fleet sailing about with their mainsail in. On Sunday it was still somewhat rough and blowy, but the fish showed. Capt. Larkin says that outside of sch. Thomas J. Carrell and his own vessel, he saw only three other vessels get fish and they did not get but small schools, two of them being sch. Squanto, which took the first school, and sch. Arthur James.

Capt. Larkin reports while bound to market, he saw 25 sails of seiners off Chatham, who appeared to be running to the southward. He does not think from what he saw that any such great amount of fish was taken on Georges Sunday as was reported. Among the vessels there not reported yesterday were schs. Lizzie M. Stanl, S. lade Gorton, Conqueror, Squanto, Terra Nova, Hattie M. Graham and Arthur James.

July 31.

Schs. Ralph L. Hall stocked $6100 as the result of her recent seining trip, the crew of 19 men, one more than the regular crew, sharing $128.50. This gives Capt. Hall the stock thus far this season of $16,787, putting him right up in the front rank, where he is found year after year.

The swordfishermen at Boston yesterday from the southeast part of Georges report no mackerel there for the past week, but for five or six days before that the water fairly teemed with great red schools, lying practically dead on the water.

Fishing Fleet Movements.

Sch. Annie M. Parker, Capt. Angus Hines, of this port, was at North Sydney, C. B., last Friday, for supplies. She had 175,000 pounds of salt cod on board.

CHEERLESS OUTLOOK.Newfoundland Experts Alarmed for Island's 1907 Catch.*Financial Complications May Also Depress Returns to Trollers.

The St. John's, N. F., Herald in a dispassionate review of the Island's cod catch situation the present season, says:

"It is greatly to be regretted that the outlook for the fishery thus far is not more favorable. The catch in the Straits promises well, but the prospect along Labrador is by no means bright. Some of the most competent authorities in the colony express the belief that the situation, as regards that seaboard, is decidedly cheerless, and that the continuance of the present weather will tell considerably against both the catching and the curing of cod there.

"The shore fishery situation on the whole is not more favorable. In a few places good catches are being made, but when the entire seaboard is reviewed it is found that the quantities of codfish ashore are much below the average, while the weather, of course, operates considerably against successful fishing.

"The results of the operations of our vessels on the Grand Banks could likewise be more advantageous, and the outcome of the present cruise will be awaited with interest. A remarkable feature of the bank-fishing situation is that the French, at St. Pierre, seem to be having the best catch for some years, though to be sure, as the fleet is only 71 vessels, against three times that number five years ago, the relative advantage will not be great.

"It is feared also that the financial complications caused by the increase of the discount rate by the Bank of Montreal and the consequent feeling of instability engendered, may result in depressing the price of the staple and lessening the return which our hardy trollers will get for their season's work."

Aug. 1.

TWO MACKEREL FARES.Sch. Nellie Dixon Has Big Fare from Georges.*Sch. Lillian Also at Boston with Fare from Chatham.

Two trips of mackerel arrived at T wharf, Boston, this afternoon, one of them a big one. The fortunate schooners are as follows:

Sch. Nellie Dixon, Capt. James Ellis, 15,000 large fresh mackerel and 150 barrels salt mackerel.

Sch. Lillian, Capt. Alonzo Cahoon, 5000 large fresh mackerel.

The fare of sch. Nellie Dixon was taken on Georges and that of sch. Lillian was taken off Chatham.

The fresh mackerel sold at 20 cents each and the salt mackerel are unsold.
